

Have you ever seen a parent struggling with their teen or adult child?

It can be frustrating.

You want to see them win, but they are doing the same things over and over again that just aren't working. You feel like saying something, but do not have all the words.

They do not know what to do, they look lost, stressed, panicking, somehow stuck, and reluctant to try new things, sometimes they are embarrassed.

What goes wrong:

They do not end up getting help fast enough, and something happens to their child and it's too late, and you knew that would happen.

Top way for you to help them overcome their reluctance.

1. Ask them if you can GIVE ME THEIR phone number.
2. I will call them, and offer a FREE 30 MINUTES to listen to their needs.

Send me a quick email right now
tom@streetsmartcounseling.com

or

403-391-4184

text here right now

Tell me about your peer, what is going on, and what you would like to see happen for them.